Professional golf legend John Daly uses his 9-iron from the fourth tee Tuesday as he drives a ball toward the hole on the 175-yard, par 3 Quarry Course hole at Black Diamond Ranch. Daly, along with other professional golf legends, played the course as part of an Els for Autism fundraiser. Professional golfer Ernie Els and his wife spearhead the organization that assists individuals and families impacted by autism spectrum disorder.

A myriad of professional golfers, including John Daly, descended upon Black Diamond Ranch on Tuesday for the second annual Legends of Golf Day, a benefit for the Ernie Els Autism Foundation and the Black Diamond Foundation. Both organizations were the beneficiaries of the star-studded event, which had folks taking plenty of photos and videos of a notable who's who of the PGA and LPGA stars. For more about the event, see B1 of Wednesday's Chronicle.
