

THE SENSORY ARTS GARDEN is both a therapeutic and educational destination for children and adults providing a meaningful experience through the exploration of nature and stimulation of the senses.

Nature offers children and adults with autism spectrum disorder remarkable opportunities for adventure, exploration and engagement. The “garden rooms” provide an opportunity to experience the five senses of: sight, smell, sound, taste and touch.

Body awareness and balance skills are enriched through activities integrated into the garden and provide visitors with opportunities to find physical connections between themselves and the garden environment.

Seating areas provide options to socialize, observe, and to experience moments of quiet contemplation.

Take your time to enjoy the tranquility.
